Data Protection

The HUB Geneva takes the protection of personal data seriously and will comply with Swiss civil law on data protection.

The HUB Geneva offers a web-based platform for the centralised handling of administration for beneficiaries (volunteers, families, local partners). Beneficiaries give their details and consent for their information to be used to The HUB Geneva when they register on the web-based platform.

If The HUB Geneva website refers, via tools or links, to websites of third parties on which use can be made of particular services offered, The HUB Geneva is not responsible for the correctness, quality, completeness and legality of the content of third-party websites and does not accept any responsibility for compliance with data protection regulations of third-party organisations. Access to third-party websites is at the users own risk and The HUB Geneva is not liable for the misuse of personal user data by third parties.

Information which cannot be directly associated with the identity of a volunteer, such as, for example, the number of users of a website or favourite websites, is not regarded as personal information and, therefore, is not subject to the data protection regulations. The HUB Geneva draws the attention of all users to the fact that Google Analytics is embedded on the www.thehub-geneva.org website. The purpose of this web analysis service from Google Inc. is to enable user analysis of the The HUB Geneva website.

The HUB Geneva uses personal information only in connection with its direct activities. The data is not passed on to third parties without the express consent of the person concerned. The HUB Geneva points out that functions (plugins) from third-party providers are embedded on the website and the web-based platform, for example those of social media platforms such as Facebook and Twitter. Those plugins (e.g. Facebook “Share” button) allow the visitors to share content in social networks. When third-party providers’ websites with plugins are called up, data is automatically transmitted to the third-party providers. If a beneficiary is simultaneously registered in the network of such a third-party provider, he/she can be associated with his network account on the The HUB Geneva website. The HUB Geneva has no influence on the way in which data is transmitted to these third-party providers.

Course of Action in the case of Inappropriate Behaviour by those using The HUB Geneva services

Where there are clear indications of inappropriate behaviour by any beneficiary, The HUB Geneva reserves the right to investigate and to obtain information about a beneficiary. If the suspicion is substantiated, The HUB Geneva has the right to refuse access to or delete the profile of the beneficiary without notice or explanation.

Privacy notice

The HUB Geneva will work to ensure that data is collected, stored, processed, maintained and retained in accordance with Swiss civil data protection legislation.
